

Abstract

An improper file operation that loses the conformity of data in specific directories conformed to an application standard is prevented. There are provided directory/file information obtaining unit for obtaining directory information stored in a mounted recording medium, list information coincidence judging unit 14 for judging whether a directory name of a directory contained in the directory information obtained by the directory/file information obtaining unit 12 is contained in a list of directory names conformed to an application standard concerning storage of data of each application, and a directory/file list display content creating unit 13 for enabling an access to data in a directory having a direction name contained in the list through only an application adapted to the directory concerned when the directory of the directory name concerned is selected.